

Is your child aged between 3 – 16 years old, have autism and suffer from tummy problems like diarrhea or constipation or very smelly poos? If so they might be eligible to take part in a clinical trial of a probiotic being done at University College London Hospital.

RECRUITING

Now!

Probiotic CLINICAL TRIAL

We are currently recruiting for a clinical trial of a probiotic for children with autistic spectrum disorders and gastrointestinal symptoms. If you would like to know more about this and may be interested in your child taking part, please email susan.simmons.16@ucl.ac.uk stating your interest and giving your consent to answer some questions to determine whether your child meets the eligibility criteria for the trial.